DETAILED ACTION

Terminal Disclaimer

The terminal disclaimer filed on 09/09/2004 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of U.S. Pat. No. 6,730,117 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded and obviates an obviousness-type double patenting over that reference.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 2, 4–14, 16, 18–24, 29–33 are allowed.

After a careful review of the prior art and the prior art of record, it has been determined that as of applicant's filing date, none of the prior art anticipated or rendered obvious the stent design claimed, particularly the helical progression, best seen in the embodiment found in fig. 5 of the instant application. Applicant's claims read over the Corso Jr. and Cottone, Jr. 5,549,663 references because, while those patents show a helical progression, they do not reasonably provide for a "plurality of circumferential hoops" each comprise of a "single continuous filament" that defines a helical progression.

Examiner has interpreted this limitation, in light of the specification and the general understanding in the art, as meaning a single continuous filament for each hoop, wrapped the entire circumference of the stent in a helical progression. Applicant has support for single continuous filament hoops at fig. 1 of related parent 09/623,347 and for helical progression of the hoops as shown in fig. 4 of that application. A terminal disclaimer was filed in that case to prevent the improper timewise extension of patent rights.

Accordingly, due to applicant's early filing date and the lack of available prior art over the independent claims, applicant's claims are allowable over the prior art. Patents most closely related to but not qualifying as prior art over the instant application are Becker 6,117,165. Further, U.S. Patent to Fontaine 5,314,472 and others lack discernible welds of adjacent circumferential hoops or an advancing plurality of discrete hoops.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
